

RIDLEY TIGER

Vol. XXXV No. 1

OCTOBER, 1984

Headmaster's Message

LAST SEPTEMBER, Ridley opened with Upper School filled with 35 more students than ever before in history; we found that the 406 students actually could fit in our facilities without undue strain aside from initial over crowding in two male residences. The end result was a spectacularly fine year for Ridley in which all the money voted from the foundation endowment interest for the School's use in student financial assistance and major property renovation was untouched and reverted to the endowment. Emboldened by the obviously much better use of our facilities, we aimed for slightly under last year's total student body, and have written major salary increases for faculty into this year's budget.

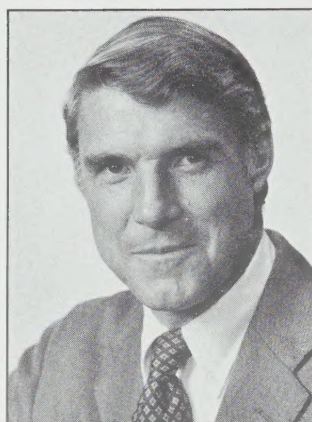

OPENING DAY saw 403 students in Upper School with an excellent distribution as follows:

	Boy Boarders	Day Boys	Total
Gr. 10	56 (26 new)	20 (3 new)	76
Gr. 11	51 (17 new)	21 (4 new)	72
Gr. 12	51 (12 new)	16 (2 new)	67
Gr. 13	48 (11 new)	20 (2 new)	68
	Girl Boarders	Day Girls
Gr. 10	9 all new	9 all new	18
Gr. 11	25 (13 new)	5 (3 new)	30
Gr. 12	26 (11 new)	9 (3 new)	35
Gr. 13	27 (2 new)	10 (0 new)	37
			<hr/> 403

The profile is extremely well-balanced between the forms, unlike the top- (Grade 13) heavy inverted pyramid of just three years ago. We have 11 more girls and 7 day students (4 girls, 3 boys) than last year.

Lower School opened with 151 boys distributed as follows:

	Boarders	Day	Total
Gr. 5		7 (all new)	7
Gr. 6	4 (all new)	8 (2 new)	12
Gr. 7	15 (10 new)	11 (6 new)	26
Gr. 8	17 (6 new)	19 (5 new)	36
Gr. 9	48 (27 new)	22 (7 new)	70
			<hr/> 151
			(84 boarders, 67 day, 74 new)

This is slightly below what may have been an overly optimistic budget figure, and we continue to discuss at the School and in the Long Range Planning Committee of the Board, the future of Lower School.

All Ridleians were enthused by the fine records of our Olympians as detailed later in the Tiger, and by the outstanding thespian success of Colm Feore (see article page 3) this summer. We also were pleased to return to a delightfully refurbished Arthur Bishop boys residence with new ceilings, carpeting, fresh paint, double-glazing and sundry face-lifting.

Contrary to all the precedent of modern construction experience, the job was completed ahead of schedule, and the new housemaster's apartment addition will soon be finished some two months before we expected it. Our Sports Ridley and Special Summer programmes went extremely well.

New departures this year include a new evening study regimen designed to make certain that all our students make the best use of both mandatory evening study time and our library. Also, new financial arrangements for dcharging of goods purchased in St. Catharines on student bills (no more for Upper School) and a tightening up on the issuance of taxi slips. I have put it frankly to our parents that we have been coddling our older students, divorcing them from financial responsibility and the opportunity for educating themselves in the realities of the world; this fall, a majority of our students have bank accounts in St. Catharines.

In curricular affairs, the most significant departure is a brand new Grade 10 English programme in which all students receive intensive instruction and ongoing work in word processing on the 17 Commodore 64 computers with five printers located in the new word processing lab in the Department Chairman Jim Ison's classroom. Grades 11 and 12 will receive familiarization with the word processing also as part of their English courses. We have also institutionalized tutorial support for a small group of Grade 13's taking the Ministry correspondence course in Accounting, though we continue to have some reservations about the place of such a course in an Advanced Level secondary school liberal arts curriculum.

A great start to Ridley's 96th year!

Summer activities at Ridley included the most successful hockey camp ever (546 weeks sold), good tennis and soccer programmes, and a small basketball session. Beyond sports, the residential computer camp for two weeks in July under the direction of Mr. Hamilton was once again highly successful; Ridley graduate Bill Brunt, and rising Gr. 12 Miye Kadonaga worked as counsellor-instructors in the programme which brought no less than 17 students from Bermuda. The new academic Summer Session offering Gr. 13 credit courses in English and Economics was smaller than hoped for, but highly successful, as was the new Elderhostel programme for 60 senior citizens from across North America . . . 4th Dimension Plans for November 4-8 are currently projected as follows: Gr. 10 — majority of students on the Ottawa Canadian Government study trip; smaller groups in historic Ft. York, and an ecology-biology field trip. Gr. 11 — Camp Kandalore in the Haliburtons for outdoor education. Gr. 12 — divided into 1) Quebec City French culture trip; 2) French language exchanges at Colleges Regina Assumpta and Jean-de-Brebeuf in Montreal for top students in the grade; 3) an athletic coaching clinic at Ridley; 4) a New England literary tour directed by Rev. G. Shantz; 5) a Washington, D.C. trip under Mr. Lewis; 6) a New York City music and culture trip under Mr. Reinitzer; and 7) an art drawing and sketching trip to Damascus, Ont. Grade 13 will have its usual university tours and vocational internships and the Timmins geography trip . . . The London branch of the Ridley College Women's Guild is supporting through the proceeds from their fashion show last April, the furnishing of a new coed lounge to be established at the base of the stairs to the PAC foyer in the History-Geography Wing . . . A bust of Terry Cronin, in life-size has been commissioned by the Ridley College Association and the Women's Guild, to be executed by sculptor John E. Matthews, '61 . . . Olympian banquet on Monday, Oct. 22 honouring Ridleians who distinguished themselves at the Olympic Games in Los Angeles this summer will be held in the Great Hall, sponsored jointly by the College, the Ridley Rowing Club and the Ridley Graduate Boat Club.

Construction of new Housemaster's residence, Arthur Bishop House.

Summer & Fall Renovations

Arthur Bishop, the splendid 1960's boys' residence designed carefully by Mr. Marani, the School Architect of many years, to mirror the "collegiate Georgian" of the Merritt House (1931) front profile, and to a degree the Iggulden Gymnasium, has held up reasonably well for its first quarter century. But, hockey sticks and thousands of adolescent male bodies had taken their toll of ceilings and other appurtenances. Furthermore, in these days of full enrolment, A.B. House had too many young men for any one Housemaster to properly oversee and counsel. Therefore, the decision was made by the Property Committee to push through simultaneously a major face-lifting of the rooms and corridors, together with the division of the house into two houses with the construction of a new housemaster's apartment onto the north east end of the building. Two additional student rooms would also be provided.

Originally costed at $425,000, this major renovation and construction has actually been completed for approximately $375,000. The student rooms have been repainted, had new ceilings installed, carpeting on floors, double-glazed; the corridors are also painted and carpeted and have new lighting. The effect has been a delightful face-lifting, much more dramatic than the visual improvement in some of the other recent renovation jobs at Ridley — perhaps because the whole house has been done at one time. The new housemaster's apartment provides additional large and high quality faculty accommodation, into which Mr. Jim King-stone and his wife, Sue, will move at the end of this month. A further bonus of the whole project is that the renovations were completed ahead of schedule allowing plenty of time to set up the furnishing for the opening of school; and, the housemaster's apartment will be ready some two months ahead of the original projected completion and several weeks ahead of the builder's own estimate.

Denizens of the refurbished house are grateful for the face-lift, though some lament the division of the House: it was fun to get away with things in a huge zoo!

Other work on campus this summer included $38,000 worth of masonry repairs including the virtual rebuilding of the top of the Great Hall chimney which was badly cracked. Roofing repairs and the continuing programme to repair and double glaze the stained glass windows of the Memorial Chapel, together with a Landscaping Committee project to re-surface in lockstone some of the pathways in front of the Great Hall and Gooderham West will be completed this fall. Energy conservation work this summer included caulking and double-glazing the drafty windows of the History-Geography wing.

The final significant project is the building of an addition to the south end of the Pest House to contain the Business Offices which have subsisted for seven years in "temporary" quarters in a former Stead & Evans construction site trailer. This business office wing is designed for possible conversion to a faculty family quarters at some future date. Construction will start this fall, with the wing to be completed in the spring.

Ridley 2ND century

BULLETIN

September 1984

A Commentary on the Sciences and Arts

Two clear trends emerged from discussions at last April's Headmaster's Conference: that more emphasis should be placed on science and technology in the coming years, and the visual and performing arts ought to play an increasingly important role.

A study of these two aspects of education is currently underway. At a recent meeting of the Executive Committee of the Board on August 20, 1984, an ad-hoc Arts/Science Centre(s) committee was unanimously struck. The Committee will be chaired by Ridley Governor Mr. Ian Kennedy, and its primary purpose will be to make recommendations to the Executive and Property Committees of the Board.

In response to a charge from the Headmaster of Ridley College, preliminary Faculty Science/Computer studies and Arts building planning committee reports were submitted in the fall of 1983. The Science Committee was chaired by the head of the Science Department Mr. Brian D. Martin. It made a strong recommendation that sciences and arts be seen as complementary, and that a "Renaissance" centre for the study of Theatre, Science, Fine Art, Computer Studies, and Music be built.

The perceived mutual advantages of building an integrated complex outlined in the Faculty's preliminary report include:

1. very exciting possibilities of inter-disciplinary teaching
2. likely cost savings in building a common unit rather than two
3. expansion of overcrowded science facilities
4. improvement of the performing arts centre and expansion of the arts' teaching and rehearsal space
5. the chance to provide a physical link between Upper and Lower School, with a sharing of Faculty and facilities
6. the likelihood that an integrated building as a fund raising goal might be optimally attractive to a maximum number of benefactors.

All of these issues will be explored by the Board of Governors' ad-hoc Arts/Science Centre(s) committee. We can look forward to a preliminary report from this body sometime in the early part of 1985.

The desire for innovative facilities does not suggest that without same the arts or the sciences have suffered at Ridley. In the sciences, for example, the School's track record is remarkable. Marcia Jill Morris and Elizabeth-Ann Woolley both graduated from Ridley in 1980 and went to Queen's to study Engineering. Both women hold positions with IBM Canada Limited today. Gregory David Knowles '82 stood second in his year in Engineering at the University of Toronto last year.

Ian MacLean Anderson '81, when he visited Ridley last Christmas from the California Institute of Technology, was exempt from his exams and standing high in his class.

Dr. Rachel Park '77 went to Queen's for science and graduated last year from Ottawa University in Medicine. Both Knowles and Anderson were at Ridley College for the majority of their secondary school education. The list goes on.

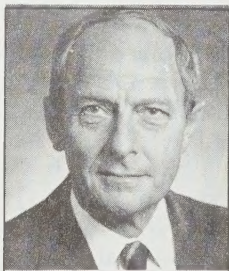

The above five science 'stars' did not spend all their School life in the lab. Woolley and Anderson were School Prefects. Morris and Knowles achieved athletic honours; in harriers and cross country for Morris, and harriers, swimming and tennis for Knowles. Woolley and Anderson were members of the Ridley Singers and participated in the Dramatic Society. Four of the five students represented the Ridley REACH FOR THE TOP team in their respective graduating years, an indication of their academic excellence and broad understanding of issues in the stream of a liberal arts education.

In the face of Parent and Faculty fears that OSIS will create a tendency toward an earlier narrowing of an individual's education, Ridley affirms the philosophy of its Founders that students receive a broad liberal arts background as well as a quality education attuned to the demands of the 21st century. Ridley students study the impact on society of scientific and computer advances; the emphasis in learning is on the importance of fundamental analytical skills, problem solving, and communications, in an environment where the arts and human values complement scientific and computer education.

In Grade 13 Chemistry last year 15 students worked on advanced study projects. As Dr. Lowell Scott and Mr. Tony Sherman explain:

"We give the students lab assignments from our first year in university. It is largely experimental and reporting work. Marks earned in the advance lab setting are bonus marks because the work is done on top of the normal course load. Any student doing one of these advanced programmes is going to be extremely well prepared for university. The written lab reports are better than the ones we saw in university."

The Science Council of Canada published a report in April subtitled Science for Every Student, Report 36. One finding was that science in Canada, especially in the public elementary schools, was poorly taught, poorly understood, and poorly integrated with the larger world.

Adam H. Zimmerman Class of '44, member of the Science Council of Canada, President and Chief Operating Officer of Noranda Inc. said that in a larger sense the Report is concerned that students learn to see science in a co-operative, philosophical, and "Canadian" manner. Students should be introduced to the history and philosophy of science, to show them that scientific advancement is an incremental process and always impacts on society. That Ridley is looking ahead to educating students for the demands of tomorrow and considering an integration of the arts and sciences in the curriculum and a facility, is to be applauded.

At Ridley the present science facilities are overcrowded, not in the size of classes (which maintain a ratio of approximately 18 to 1) but in the pressure that the facilities bear. Four years ago plans were drawn up for a swing lab to offset the pressure then on the labs and prep rooms. Says Dr. Scott:

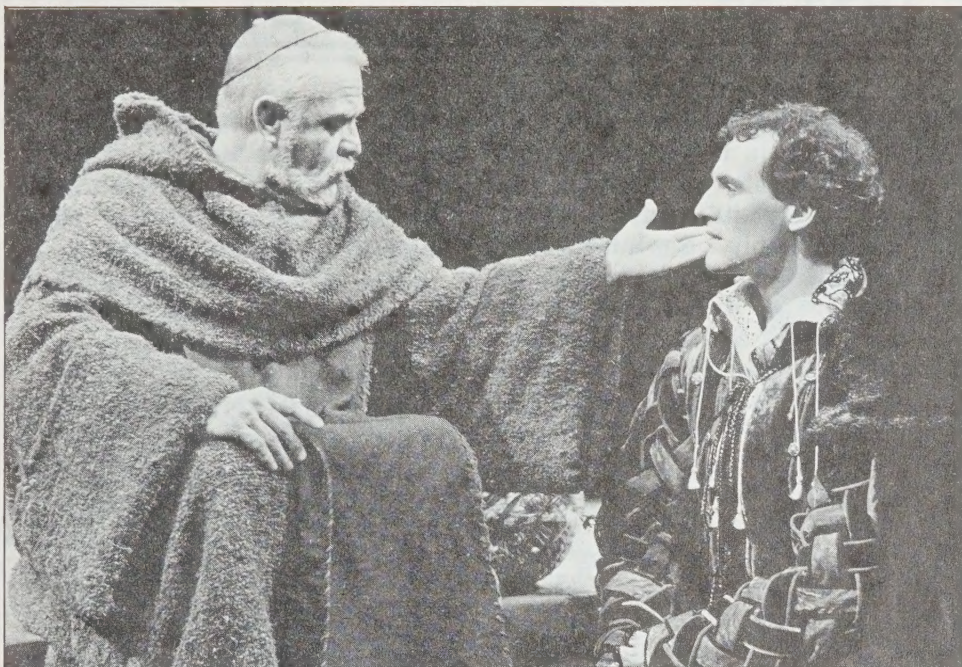

"We were fifty lower in enrolment than we are now. Today the three science labs and two advance prep rooms are pressed into 100% service. There is no flexibility; it is extremely difficult to keep the labs tidy or to have time or space to prepare a class ahead of time. We are at the stage where we have two classes doubling up; we will team teach two classes concurrently scheduled in Biology and two classes in Chemistry."

Brian Martin isn't bashful about the Science department.

"I'm proud of my department. We turn out some of the best science students in Ontario. The ones we send on do good work, really do very good work. I don't think too many schools graduate two women in the same year (1980 Morris and Woolley) with Honours who go to Queen's and graduate with Honours in Engineering. That's uncommon. I think we could do it on a much broader base with additional facilities. We have very good labs; we just don't have enough of them."

Facilities for the performing arts at Ridley have suffered similarly over the last five years. Space for rehearsing and teaching music, drama, graphic and fine arts, are restricted the same as the science department. There is no flexibility and little preparation time for Faculty to make ready classes in the performing arts centre 'room' prior to the class. The room is used to capacity now in its multi service role for storage, rehearsal, music practise, and teaching there is very little opportunity for students to use the room in their spare time. There is no hall, auditorium, or theatre space on campus in which the entire student body and Faculty can sit down together.

1989 will bring Ridley's centennial, the School will be on the cusp of its second century and the world's twenty-first. It is critical that Ridley continues to provide a quality liberal arts education through which students come to understand interrelationships between science/technology, the arts and society; in functional, personal, historical, moral and aesthetic ways. Thus the facilities necessary to ensure continuing excellence in Ridley education are of paramount importance.

Ridleian Stars As Stratford's 'Romeo'

Colm Feore ('77), playing the major role of the "star-crossed" young Montague in Stratford's 1984 production of Romeo and Juliet, first trod the boards in Lower School productions of Messrs McGregor and Cosgrove. He retains fond ironic memories of "catching the bug" from appearances in Gilbert and Sullivan plays, adaptations of Dickens and the like, but disavows any immediate conversion to his present career:

"I was afraid to do anything in Upper School at first because everyone was so big and neat and cool. But in 1976, Victor Bohlman got in Stoppard's Jumpers, and that really got me started and the next year we did Marat/Sade and I started to appreciate that theatre could be something more sophisticated than 'I am the captain of the Pinafore...'"

Beyond other dramatic encouragement provided by the School, in such ventures as Merritt House triumphs in House Play competitions, Mr. Feore speaks well of the quality of teaching that sparks interest: "You get off on somebody as I did Richard Wright in Grade 12; you want to learn; you want to read more."

After graduating from Ridley, still uncertain of his calling, Mr. Feore "did the rounds," including auditioning for the National Theatre School in Montreal. He was accepted, despite the fact that an undergraduate degree in theatre is the normal prerequisite for admission to this famed institution. Of his professional training, he confides that:

"I was ready but not awake. So it took until about the third year before I realized that this was very serious. I was actually going to have to go out and earn a living doing this, and it took until this year or last year here to realize that I had to know what I was doing."

Prior to this year's opening of Romeo and Juliet, in which Mr. Feore stars with Seana

McKenna, an equally "untried" young actress, critics wondered aloud at the risk the company was taking, relying so much on young talent. Happily, such fears came to naught. Says Colm:

"We could have fallen apart under the pressure, but, in fact, we didn't. The opening night here for Romeo was the most spontaneous response we've had for a long time, partly, I suppose, because it could have been such an outlandish disaster. It could have failed terribly badly. But it didn't."

In fact, Mr. Feore, though appropriately young for Romeo, is hardly a theatrical neophyte. In addition to roles at The Citadel Theatre in Edmonton, under the direction of noted Canadian actor, Len Cariou, whom he admires and cites as a big influence, Colm has for the past three years participated in the Stratford Festival and Third Stage programme. His roles included Cinna in Julius Caesar, Clitus in Coriolanus, Tranio (second male lead) in Taming of the Shrew, minor roles in Le Misanthrope and Comedy of Errors and understudy to Richard Monette in The Rivals. He has carried his spears, been "absolutely egregious...outstandingly bad" and learned his craft.

Under the supervision of Michael Langham, and including such senior actors as John Franklin Robins and John Neville, the Third Stage programme gave young actors such as Mr. Feore valuable instruction where, he explains:

"...we got to rehearse with a lot of high-powered instructors from Juilliard, New York. And it was the first time I was allowed to play a young man. I played Claudio in Much Ado About Nothing and it turned things around. There was a love-interest involved and it's really the reason I ended up getting the part of Romeo."

In addition to the plum part of Romeo, Mr. Feore also takes on Salerio in Merchant of Venice and Longeville in Love's Labour's Lost in this Stratford season. An offer to take on the "perfect" role of Edmund in a Long Day's Journey Into Night, starring James Whitmore, at Edmonton's Citadel awaits. In response to the opinion that he has become a "celebrity," Colm demurs: "Ah, the problem is that prestige doesn't pay the rent...I don't think I have any status actually... That was part of the decision, but it's a decision I keep making every time I get up on stage..."

Noting that his wife, Sidonie, who is also an actor, has never seen his old School, Mr. Feore expresses the desire to come to Ridley and "look in on a class that was studying a Shakespeare play and chat with some people about acting." An open invitation to do so extends from Ridley, a place this old boy describes with mock-serious, homely image as "that little fetid pond where things kind of grew."

New Faculty For 1984-85

ROBERT J. MALYK, B.Sc., M.Ed.

A graduate of Concordia and McGill universities, Mr. Malyk has, since 1972, been a teacher and chairman of the Biology Department at Centennial Regional High School, Greenfield Park, Quebec — South Shore Montreal. During his distinguished career at Centennial, he has been called upon to lecture to student teachers in the McGill education programme; has given presentations at two of the United States National Association of Biology Teachers Conferences (1979, 1980); has received the Dr. W. L. Shurtleff Award from the Quebec Department of Education for outstanding work in secondary school education particularly in Biology; and, has been awarded the Outstanding Biology Teacher Award from the U.S. National Association of Biology Teachers in 1981 — the first Canadian to be so honoured. In 1983 he received a Friend of the Environment Award from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency. He has also served as Chairman for the Final Examination Committee for the B.S.C.S. Biology Programme (a secondary school biology programme widely used in both American and Canadian schools). Mr. Malyk has also conducted highly successful annual field expeditions in Environmental Biology, and it is hoped that he will set up similar programmes here at Ridley. He and his wife and infant son will be living in St. Catharines, as Mr. Malyk takes charge of the Biology section of the Ridley Science Department.

SUSAN OADES HAZELL first came to Ridley as just Susan Oades, a French/Spanish teacher in September 1979, fresh from the Faculty of Education at Queen's. An Ottawa girl, Mrs. Hazell received her B.A. from Mount Allison where she was vice-president of her class, a Rhodes scholar nominee,

Dean's List, and a varsity swimmer. As an Assistant Housemistress in Dean's House, a full-time teacher, coach, and mentor of debating she made a great positive impact on the Ridley Community. She also made an impression on a Geography teacher here at Ridley named Mr. Michael Hazell, and the mutual impression culminated in Ridley's first inter-faculty marriage in 1980. The Hazell's left for the Waterloo area in 1981, but happily they are returning to Ridley and Mrs. Hazell will assume a part-time teaching load in French (basically replacing Mrs. Woo who is returning to England) while also ministering to young Jon Christopher, and a new baby who will be arriving in November.

MICHAEL S. HAZELL, OR '73 was an outstanding athlete and leader at Ridley, a winner of the Mason Gold, the Matheson Athletic Trophy, the Birks Bronze Medal for Proficiency in English and History, and the Merritt House Zealous Achievement Award. Captain of the ISAA Championship Basketball Team in his senior year, he won the Captain's Cup and the Gary Burroughs Trophy; he was also assistant captain of the 1972-73 ISAA Championship Basketball Team winning the Cromarty Trophy as Most Valuable Player. He also rowed with two Ridley crews who went to the English Henley. A School Prefect, he was also Commanding Officer of Cadets. At the University of Waterloo, Mr. Hazell maintained a Dean's List average for four years and stood 5th in the School of Urban & Regional Planning upon graduation. He was also president of the Rugby Club, and in 1977 won the Waterloo Warriors Plaque for the Outstanding Athlete at the University. In 1979, he received his Ontario Teacher's Certificate from the University of Toronto (while playing for the U. of T. Blues Rugby Team). Also an excellent Tennis player, Mr. Hazell has since 1979 directed the Sports Ridley Tennis Camp, a constantly growing and successful programme. For the past three years he has been Chairman of the Geography Department and Director of Activities at St. John's-Kilmarnock (formerly Elora) upper school in Waterloo. He is returning to Ridley to phase in as Director of Summer Programmes, assist in the Admissions Office, and teach two Geography sections.

MISS JO-ANNE TINGLEY, a native of Peterborough, Ont. and a 1983 Honours graduate in English from Trent University, will serve as a teaching intern in English this year. She will teach a Grade 11 English section, and a Drama / Communications course for Grades 6-8 in Lower School. Miss Tingley has taught gymnastics, and worked for the Peterborough County Board of Education and the City of Peterborough Development Department. She is interested in theatre, music, running, squash, and dance.

MRS. PENNY VERBRUGGEN-ADAMS has joined the English Department as a part-time teacher. A familiar face to many at Ridley, through her English tutoring last year and her work as an intern with the Summer Session English course, she is looking forward to being a member of the house team in Dean's House. Mrs. Verbruggen-Adams is a native of Chatham, Ont., and a graduate of Brock in 1980 (English major with a minor in Dramatic Arts). She is currently studying for her Master's at Brock.

MISS JANE MacADAM has also joined the English department as a teaching intern for this year. With a B.A. in English and History from Queen's University in 1983, Miss MacAdam also has her B.Ed. and has done practice and substitute teaching in the Kingston and Peterborough areas. During her secondary school years she spent a year in France, and she is an enthusiastic basketball player, skier, and dancer (both ballet and modern).

Ridley's Olympians

In the Games of the XXIIIrd Olympiad at Los Angeles, Canadian athletes made their best showing ever. Contributing to this excellent performance were several Old Ridleians and others associated with the School. Gold, silver and bronze medals now swell the pride of Ridley's sports programme.

It was on Lake Casitas, the Olympic rowing venue north of L.A., that Ridleians were most prominent, as befits the School's long tradition of excellence on the water. There was, however, an Old Boy medalist in the track competition at the Coliseum and another record-setting finalist at the USC pool.

The races at Casitas were early morning events because after 10 a.m. the wind whipped up and made conditions unsuitable. On Friday August 3, the Petit Finals (seventh place and down) were held under clear skies with minimal winds. In this competition, the Canadian men's straight Four finished first. Amongst their number was David Johnson who has worked as a hockey instructor at Sports Ridley.

Women's Coxed Four race.

Saturday saw the Women's Grand Final, with good conditions and large crowds. The day belonged to the Romanian boats, winning every race save for the Eights in which the U.S.A. triumphed. In the Coxed Four, however, Canada won the silver medal, with Jane Tregunno '81 rowing stroke. Jane attended the School for her Grade 13 year, during which she proved herself to be an extraordinary athlete. She was the first Ridleian to win a Canadian Schoolboy championship in the Girls' Single Scull. That she won a place as stroke in the "sweep" Coxed Four crew shows her versatility. Also on this day, the Canadian Eight finished fourth. Their coxswain was Lesleh Anderson, who coached the School's Women's Four in 1981.

Fog covered the course on a cool Sunday morning for the Men's Grand Finals, barely clearing by the 8 a.m. start. A capacity crowd of over 10,000 attended. In the Double, Peter McGowan, a teaching intern at Ridley in 83-4, and partner Tim Storm finished sixth, after winning their qualifying heat.

Silver medalist Jane Tregunno '81

The big race of the day, of course, was the Eights. The Canadian boat was coxed by Brian McMahon '80 and coached by Neil Campbell '51 (who is also head coach of Ridley's crews). Prior to the race, many expected the Canadian entry to be ahead at the 1000 metres and then to fade, as that had been their pattern in previous races. Such was not the case, however. Leading by half a length at the mid-point, the crew advanced to a three-quarter boat-length advantage and held on over the final 500 metres to defeat the hard-charging U.S. boat for the Gold medal.

It was a highly exciting and emotional moment for all the Canadians at Casitas. In their midst was Jack Nicholson, captain of the Ridley Boat Club and coach of the Olympic single and double sculls, and Dr. John Stewart, the School's physician and doctor for the Canadian Olympic rowers.

Brian McMahon first tasted victory with Ridley crews at a number of Canadian and English Henleys and at Stotesbury. In 1979, he was part of a Ladies Challenge Plate winning crew. Neil Campbell, made a member of the Order of Canada in 1981, had himself rowed for Ridley boats in Schoolboy and Henley victories and for the Canadian team in the '64 and '68 Olympics. He coached Brian during his days at Ridley.

Towards the end of the Track and Field competition at the L.A. Memorial Coliseum, another Ridleian distinguished himself. Michael Sokoloski '81 ran the first leg for the Canadian team in the 4x100 Sprint Relay, the Bronze medal winners. Michael attended Lower School in 75-6 and it was while at RLS that, according to his father, he first began to discover his talent for running.

The pool at USC was the site of many glorious moments for Canadian swimmers and divers. One young member of the swimming team was David Shemilt '83. In the heats for the Men's 1500 metres, David qualified with a Canadian record time of 15:24.78 and finished seventh in the extremely competitive final. His sights are firmly set on the 1988 Games in Seoul, South Korea.

Devotees of Canadian amateur sport have much cause for pride in what our Olympians achieved during the Los Angeles Games, and renewed expectation of successes in the future. The Ridley community has a particular vantage on such pleasures in saluting the contributions of its members.

The above article was written with the assistance of Messrs Nick Holmes and Don Munroe, who attended the L.A. Games).

The Report From The Chairman Of The Financial Support Committee

This has been a vintage year for Ridley in many areas, and certainly in terms of financial support to the School. We surpassed the magic $200,000 figure in terms of dollars contributed and came in with a final figure of $209,141. As I stated in my report last year $200,000 is a breakthrough figure and our final total was 10% higher than the previous year (which was a record). In addition the number of contributors reached a record, namely 1,755 Ridleians. The average gift per donor was also a record. It was just shy of $120 per contributor.

The School is very fortunate indeed to have such a strong and loyal family. On behalf of the Board of Governors and the Executive Committee of the School, I would like to extend my sincere thanks to all members of the Ridley Family who gave to the 1983-84 Ridley Fund. These results, however, could not have been achieved without the dedication, determination and unselfish effort of approximately 200 Ridleians who gave generously of their time. I cannot ever thank them enough. Sam Heaman, as always, deserves a special thank you. His efforts are respected and deeply appreciated by all who care about Ridley.

Annual Giving has now reached a figure where it is making a significant contribution to the finances of the School. Ridley counts on this support in its budgeting. When we fail to reach our target, Ridley is the loser.

Our target for 1984-1985 is $225,000. Ridley continues to strive for ever increasing EXCELLENCE. Let us all help the School, at least financially, reach new and challenging heights.
